

GLA Award 2021
„Lymphoma Clinical Research“

In honor of Michael Pfreundschuh

The German Lymphoma Alliance e.V. (GLA e.V.) aiming to improve the treatment of patients with malignant lymphomas in Germany supports and coordinates research activities in biology, diagnostics and treatment of lymphoma in Germany.

The GLA is proud to announce the GLA Award 2021 “Lymphoma Clinical Research” in honor of Michael Pfreundschuh and invites young investigators to apply for this award, which is endowed with 5.000 €.

Investigators (40 years or younger) may submit their application together with:

- full manuscript(s) focusing on lymphoma clinical research published in 2020
- structured CV including a list of publications and other grants of the applicant

All submissions will be evaluated by the GLA board of the German Lymphoma Alliance.

Grantees will be invited to present their work during the next annual GLA conference on November 11-13 in Leipzig.

Please send your applications until September 15th 2021 to: office@german-lymphoma-alliance.de

GLA Awards 2021
„Lymphoma Biology“

The German Lymphoma Alliance e.V. (GLA e.V.) aiming to improve the treatment of patients with malignant lymphomas in Germany supports and coordinates research activities in biology, diagnostics and treatment of lymphoma in Germany.

The GLA is proud to announce the GLA Award 2021 “Lymphoma Biology” and invites invites young investigators to apply for this award, which is endowed with 5.000 €.

Investigators (40 years or younger) may submit their application together with:

- full manuscript(s) focusing on lymphoma biology published in 2020
- structured CV including a list of publications and other grants of the applicant

All submissions will be evaluated by the GLA board of the German Lymphoma Alliance.

Grantees will be invited to present their work during the next annual GLA conference on November 11-13 in Leipzig.

Please send your applications until September 15th 2021 to: office@german-lymphoma-alliance.de